

Southeastern Museum of Aviation & Lunch in Warner Robins

November 17 - Day Trip - $100

A historic and educational day trip!

Warner Robins is home to the Museum of Aviation, the fourth largest and one of the most advanced aviation museums in the country! It is located right next to Robins Air Force Base in Warner Robins, Georgia.

We'll tour a four-building complex honoring the history of military aviation. The main center is the Eagle Building, which contains military memorabilia since World War I. The Georgia Aviation Hall of Fame and a theater showing various educational films are also located in the building. The museum recently acquired a motion simulator. Another major building is the Century of Flight Hangar, containing airplanes and ground vehicles. There is also an exhibit and small theater focusing on some famous Middle Georgian politicians and military leaders. Another hangar houses an exhibit on Operation Desert Storm, the Tuskegee Airmen, and additional airplanes. The final building showcases artifacts found on Robins Air Force Base.

We'll enjoy close-up views and interactive demonstrations. This trip is special because Sam participated in the organization of the museum while serving as First Sergeant of the Air Logistics Center at Robins Air Base. Sam served in the Air Force for 23 years and this trip has a special place in his heart. Please join us!
